

Portrait of my mother as a pair of shoes

The more I stare at the nurse's polished shoes, the more I get the rather unpleasant feeling these shoes aren't simply just a pair of shoes, they are in fact - how odd - my own mother, still very much alive, and having fun breezing in and out of the waiting room.

Selima Hill