

Welcoming the Birds

You hold up your hand.

Now your hand's a tree.

Small birds fly to it

Gratefully

And they rest their wings,

Your sweet-singing friends,

As they perch like snowflakes

On your fingers' ends

Adrian Mitchell (1932-2008)